

Jay Hickey

Jay Hickey is the Operations Manager for NextEra Energy's Southeast-based natural gas pipelines and oil terminal assets. Additionally, Jay manages the operation of NextEra's multiple mine methane capture and carbon credit generating projects. Jay has over 25 years' experience in the energy industry, including oil & gas transmission pipelines, power generation, and mining. He has worked in multiple operations and maintenance roles, from technician/operator through supervisor/manager. Jay is a veteran of the United States Marine Corps where he received his electronic/electrical training. Jay holds a Bachelor's of Science in Financial Management and an MBA, both from Florida Southern College.